

HARD LINE ON THE BORDER

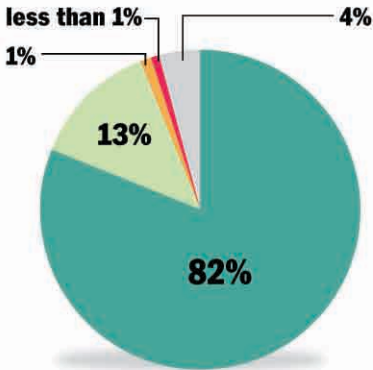

An internal survey finds U.S. Border Patrol agents strongly support a border wall with Mexico and say lenient treatment of those who cross into the U.S. illegally is making controlling illegal immigration harder.

Strongly agree Agree Disagree Strongly disagree No opinion

Is a wall system in strategic locations necessary to secure the southern border?

Is the policy of catch-and-release a major magnet for border crossers to break U.S. law?

Source: National Border Patrol Council

THE WASHINGTON TIMES